City and Art

The lecture will highlight the fundamental notion and ideas that form a city; both as a physical entity and a conceptual one. The foundational principles of the purpose and expression of public place of the city will also be presented while showing different scholarship and approaches that have emerged on the topic. The last part of the lecture will discuss the relationship of dissent, artistic expression and space of our cities with a particular focus on recent transformations cities are facing in a post-globalized environment.
