Prof. Dr. Max Deeg, Cardiff University

This talk will explore a set of legends concerning the advent of the Buddhist dharma in some Himalayan Regions (Gandhara, Kashmir, Nepal, and Khotan). They display some similarities in narrative and structure, which already led John Brough to the conclusion that there was some historical connection. Based on his recent monograph, the speaker will present and discuss some of these similarities and the possible spread and development of the basic legend underlying most of these stories from a Trans-Himalayan context.
